NEWS RELEASE

The first of eight regional inquiries into the problem of cigarette smoking and public health will be conducted in Los Angeles on Tuesday, March 22, by the National Commission on Smoking and Public Policy under sponsorship of the American Cancer Society.

Five of the 25 members of the Blue Ribbon Commission will participate in the Los Angeles hearing, which will be held in Room 8455 of the Federal Building at 300 North Los Angeles Street.

Allan K. Jones of Los Angeles, Chairman of the National Task Force on Tobacco and Cancer, is the only Los Angeles member of the Commission who will participate in the local hearing. Others coming to Los Angeles for the event include Nobel prize winners, David Baltimore of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Robert Holley of the Salk Institute.

Among the witnesses scheduled to testify are actor, Charlton Heston, Daniel Horne, Director of the National Clearing House for Smoking and Health, State Fire Marshall, Philip C. Favro and 29 others from California, Hawaii, Arizona, Nevada, and Utah.

The National Commission will conduct additional hearings in Denver, Seattle, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Atlanta and Philadelphia during the months of May and June.
